TSUD AND THE UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA SIGN PACT

Officials from Troy State University at Dothan and The University of Alabama gathered recently and signed a cooperative agreement to offer an articulated pre-engineering program at TSUD. Students will have the option of obtaining a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering from The University of Alabama or a B.S. degree in mathematics or physical science from TSUD coupled with the B.S. degree in engineering from The University of Alabama. "The programs in mathematics, physical science, and liberal arts at TSUD as well as the small class sizes combine to provide a high-quality education for the student and increase chances of success during the latter years of engineering education at The University of Alabama," said Dr. Robert Barfield, Dean of the UA College of Engineering.

Programs are available in eight engineering disciplines: aerospace engineering, chemical engineering, civil engineering, electrical engineering, industrial engineering, mechanical engineering, metallurgical engineering, and mineral engineering. Students in electrical engineering may specialize in computer engineering, and students in mineral engineering specialize in either mining engineering or petroleum engineering.

Dr. Jack Sublette, Executive Vice President and Vice President for Student Affairs at TSUD, provided

background information regarding the cooperative effort between the institutions and explained the benefits available to the students in the Wiregrass area. In his comments, Sublette said, "It is gratifying to come to this day when Troy State University at Dothan and The University of Alabama sign this agreement for the benefit of students who prefer to remain in the Wiregrass region for the first part of their engineering education. This agreement will benefit both institutions, but, more importantly, it will provide a great service to the citizens of the Wiregrass. We feel that the two universities have created a model program."

TSUD President, Dr. Thomas Harrison, and UA President, Dr. Roger Sayers, commented on the satisfaction and cooperation between the institutions concerning the agreement.

INTERIM SESSIONS POPULAR

Interim sessions continue to be successful as TSUD students take advantage of the flexible scheduling format. Enrollment for the 1993 Fall Interim Session increased by 3.7% for a total of 223 students. No classes were closed that were offered on the 1993 Fall Interim schedule.

The 1993 Winter Interim Session will be held December 1-17. Classes are listed in the 1993 Fall Quarter Schedule of Classes and will also appear in the 1994 Winter Quarter Schedule of Classes.

TSUD WELCOMES NEW VICE PRESIDENT

Dr. Barbara Alford joins the TSUD staff as Vice President for Special Programs. Dr. Alford comes to TSUD from Wallace College-Dothan.

A native of Brooklyn, New York, Dr. Alford earned the B.A. at Brooklyn College of the City University of New York. In 1984, she received the Master of Science degree in school administration from Troy State University at Dothan, and she later earned the Ed.D. in educational leadership from Auburn University.

Dr. Alford began her tenure at Wallace College-Dothan in 1984, where she served as Director of Special Services, Title III Coordinator, Director of Development, and Administrative Dean. Prior to her experience at Wallace College, she served as Program Developer and Instructor for Vocational Special Needs for the Ozark Board of Education at Carroll High School.

Her duties as Vice President for Special Programs encompass the Fort Rucker location, FCI-Marianna/CJC, Continuing Education, Development, Institutional Effectiveness, Research, and the CBES function. Dr. Alford's office is located in Room 15 at Northside Mall.

DR. BRADSHAW HONORED

Dr. Wayne Bradshaw, associate professor of education, was honored with a Retirement Reception on August 9, 1993, in the Multipurpose Room of Malone Hall. Accompanied by his family, Dr. Bradshaw heard fine remarks from Dr. Thomas Harrison and Dr. Betty Kennedy. Ms. Cindy Halcomb, chairman of the TSUD Courtesy Committee, presented Dr. Bradshaw with a plaque for his many years of dedication and service to TSUD. Dr. Parvis Parsa, professor, School of Business, presented Dr. Bradshaw with a special publication.
